

OLD FASHIONED TEA FOR CONSTIPATION

Brew it yourself at home.

Probably the best remedy you can take for clogged-up bowels and sluggish liver is one that costs very little and accomplishes much.

For many years Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea has been used by tens of thousands to keep the bowels regular and the whole system in fine condition.

Why not get a small package of this gentle, yet sure acting bowel regulator and system tonic, and brew a cupful for yourself every night for a week or two?

You'll surely be gratefully surprised at the benefit you get and will praise Dr. Carter's K. and B. Tea to your friends. It's fine for the little folks and they like it. All druggists sell it—Advt.

CHILDREN REAL TEACHERS OF AMERICANISM THROUGH EVENING WORLD'S FORUM

Urged by Speakers, They Carry Its Lesson Home to Elders.

Children, hundreds of them, their faces aglow with happiness, led, last night, in the exercises of The Evening World Americanization Forum for the East Side in Public School No. 4 at Lexington and Ridge Streets.

They filed the front half of the big auditorium, the fresh, white dresses of the girls with their sashes and caps of red, white and blue making a colorful foreground against the more sombre garb of their brothers, their fathers and their mothers, who sat behind them and filled the room to the doors, while hundreds remained outside unable to get admission.

And throughout the whole of the exercises, from the beginning, when the glee club of the school sang "America," through the patriotic speeches by Justice Robert F. Wagner of the Supreme Court, by Dr. Edward W. Stitt, Superintendent of the East Side Schools, by Dr. M. J. Katz, Chairman of The Evening World's Americanization Forum in District No. 4, through all of the musical programme and patriotic drills by the children to the renditions at the end of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Pledge of Allegiance," the meeting, the audience, the spirit of the evening, were dominated and swayed by the spirit of America.

The evening was the occasion for the teaching to the people of the east side through The Evening World of another lesson in Americanism. The director of The Evening World's Americanization Forum inaugurated the plan to have children of the various schools in the district lead in the exercises through which it is expected to make their parents, who have not had the advantages of American schooling, more intelligent Americans. Mrs. Anna Cunningham, Director of the Evening Schools of the east side, again participated in the programme, and nearly all of the speakers urged the older people in the audience to learn well the English language as their first step in becoming American citizens.

CHILDREN ARE LEARNING AND THEY'LL TEACH PARENTS.

It was Dr. Stitt who told the eager audience of the ways to Americanize the United States.

"The best way," he declared, "is through the children, and the schools are doing the best work. The children are learning and we are expecting they will carry the message home to their fathers and mothers and adult friends. The next way is through the soldiers and sailors who are returning home and who will have our flag first in their hearts and defend it against any nation or society. The next way is through such meetings as this and plans that will grow out of it for the adults. I wish that every child who comes here speaks a little English would teach it to others and prepare them for the evening schools which will help them to become better citizens and better Americans."

Dr. Stitt was warmly applauded when he paid a glowing tribute to the east side boys who fought so bravely in the war, particularly those who were boys who were members of the "Lost Battalion."

"When the call to the colors came," he said, "there were no soldiers in France who fought more bravely and with finer intelligence than the boys of the east side. When the whole story of the world war is written there will be no finer account than that of the 'Lost Battalion,' the handful of men who performed one of the bravest deeds in history—as fine as the holding of the pass at Thermopylae or the fighting of the Six Hundred at Balaclava. Some of them—those who have not made the supreme sacrifice in France—will be coming home soon. They are our boys and no welcome will be too great for them."

TOLD OF LIBERTY'S GLORIES AT FORUM

Dr. Stitt was followed by the school's glee club, which sang "The Old Sweet Song," directed by Mrs. R. V. Marshall, vice principal of Public School No. 4, with Miss Florence Johnson, Director of Health, District No. 4, at the piano. Miss Jeanette Weinberg, with Miss Anna Sussman at the piano, led the girls in a patriotic drill. Edward Klein, nine years old, of the Boys' Club House and Drum Corps, of which William Stein is the leader, and which played at a rally outside the building before the exercises began, played a cornet solo. Six youthful boy violinists of Public School No. 37, who composed that institution's orchestra, directed by Miss Emma McDonald, played two numbers in concert.

EAST SIDE MUST BE WHOLLY AMERICAN.

Dr. Katz, who presided over the meeting, told the audience that what the east side needs is to be wholly American.

"We must," he said, "be thankful to the Board of Education and to the Evening World and the teachers who have taken the time to come here to make these meetings a success. But we must also go away from these meetings more determined than ever to become wholly American by becoming naturalized, by becoming citizens of this great republic, by taking part in its government and by being Americans in spirit as well as in name. There are now 600,000 people in the east side who are not naturalized. We want all of them to be citizens."

Beatie Neches, the thirteen-year-old girl of Public School No. 4, who was the first of the evening world's best essay by a school pupil of the district on the League of Nations, read her paper, which, when the prize was awarded her, she declared, "All the judges a remarkable production for a child of her years."

Preceding the reading of this paper the audience enjoyed a comedy sketch in which even many of the older people took part. It was led by Max Aronson, a singer of popular songs well known on the east side, with Billy O'Connor at the piano, "Landie Boy" and "You Can't Beat Us" proved favorites with the crowd, who joined in with a song that would have done credit to a trained chorus.

Justice Wagner, who was the last speaker on the programme, and whose utterances were frequently interrupted by hearty applause, warned his hearers against the people on the east side who are preaching the false doctrine against the American institution and who, he said, declare there is no longer an opportunity for the poor in America. In cited as examples of the falsity of this teaching the case of "Al" Smith of the east side from a fish stand in Fulton Market to the Governorship of the greatest State in the Union, and of his own rise upward from an east side newsboy to the bench of the highest court in the State.

"These people who are preaching these false doctrines," he said, "are trying to mislead the people of the east side. I am sure the children will never be misled, and you older people, who have seen in the past all the benefits of American institutions, should beware of them."

WAGNER TELLS OF "AL" SMITH'S RISE AND HIS OWN.

"There is no country in the world where the humblest and the poorest have the same opportunity as they have in this country. I know you won't follow the teachings of a preacher who preaches a doctrine which is destructive to this country. 'Don't let anybody,' he urged, speaking to the children now, 'tell you there is no opportunity in this country. Al Smith sold fish in Fulton Market and I know you all we all had a hard struggle that I might go to school but I had an opportunity, and now the people have honored me with the highest position a lawyer can be given in this State. 'Even now I may be talking to a future President of the United States, for this is a land where we all, even the poorest of us, have an opportunity to reach the highest place in the Nation."

Guests of The Evening World at the exercises were Mrs. Mary C. Donahue, Principal of School No. 4; Miss Lizzie E. Rector, District Superintendent of the Board of Education, and William E. Simmons, Principal of Evening School No. 160.

The next Evening World Americanization Forum at Public School No. 4 will be conducted next Thursday evening, when Director Schlacht expects to have another programme in which school children will take a leading part.

BLUE GRASS IS STRONG FOR RAILROAD OWNERSHIP

Head of Kentucky Commission Pleads for "Unorganized Public" Now Being "Crushed."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The first outspoken advocate of Government ownership of railroads appeared yesterday before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee in the hearing on the McAdams-Reynolds control pact. Laurence H. Finn, Chairman of the Kentucky State Railway Commission, who announced himself as a "self constituted, unpaid representative of the unorganized public," was the witness.

"I do not think the present system should be a criterion for anything except the necessity for a change," said Finn. "Private ownership and operation for profit is a system that is not justified, and in practice, he added, the 'unorganized public is between organized capital and organized labor, between upper and lower millstones.'"

GIVES $50,000 IN BONDS.

Contribution to Near-East Relief Fund Is Anonymous.

The Committee for Relief in the Near East, which is campaigning for a $100,000 fund, was spurred on today by the generous response being made to its appeal in New York. It was announced that an anonymous donor has sent a gift of more than $50,000 in Liberty Bonds. Jacob H. Schiff has given $500. Mrs. John S. Kennedy a like amount, and contributions in smaller amounts are pouring in.

A letter received from Dr. Theodore Balmoris, head physician of the Government of Mount Lebanon, tells of men and dogs fighting each other or refuse to be used as food of 50,000 people, once wealthy, who died from starvation or at the hands of the Turks of thousands of the Syrian people for lack of nourishment.

Members of the New York City drive, headed by Alexander J. Humphreys, Chairman of the Board of the Guaranty Trust Company, and James M. Spence, met today at the Bankers' Club and considered the last progress since the opening of the campaign last Monday.

MANCHESTER GLAD TO GET BARNARD LINCOLN STATUE

"Noble and Original Work," Says Guardian, "Deserves All Honor We Can Give."

MANCHESTER, Jan. 31.—In announcing that the Anglo-American Society has decided to offer the Barnard statue of Lincoln to this city, the Manchester Guardian says:

"As Manchester petitioned to have this fine work, there can be no question of the gift being accepted with open arms. The intimate trade relations between our city and America and the historic incident of Lancaster's patient acceptance of the heavy trials brought on her by the American Civil War, besides the hearty good will which we, like all Englishmen, but in perhaps special degree, bear to our great ally, have doubtless combined to recommend our petition and will make the position of the statue here a permanently appropriate memorial. It is a noble and original work and deserves for its own sake, as well as for that of its original, all the honor we can give it."

Trade Expansion Congress Has Opened in Montevideo.

MONTevideo, Jan. 31.—The first American Congress for Economic Expansion opened last night in this city with delegates present from many American republics. The Congress will study natural resources and the products of each country with the object of facilitating commercial intercourse.

MILK COMMITTEE ASKS $30,000 TO SAVE BABIES

Infant Mortality Rate in City Has Risen Since United States Entered War.

The New York Milk Committee at its annual meeting yesterday voted to appeal for $30,000 to extend its activities in child welfare work. This action was induced by the fact that the infant mortality rate in this city has risen since the United States entered the war. The fund will be devoted to carrying out the campaign for pre-natal nursing and the creation of a public demand for clean and safe milk.

Following an investigation of re-constituted milk by the Department of Markets, Dr. Herbert H. Wilcox, Dr. Alfred J. Hess and J. H. Larson of the committee decided that it is as good as pasteurized milk, but is not better and possesses no advantage, as it cannot be sold cheaper. Secretary Larson reported that milk had advanced in price since 1913 less than any other food commodity. Milk has advanced 67 per cent, dairy products 74, meat and poultry 72, fish and eggs 79, flour, sugar and potatoes 81.

Here Are Bob and Little Sister

Trying On Their New Blyn-Plan Shoes

It's such fun! Imagine "really, truly" new shoes that don't pinch one's toes a mite! In fact, as Little Sister says, "THEY FEEL LIKE NOTHING ON!"

And don't they look stylish?—"Nifty" is what Bob calls them. Children who wear Blyn-Plans do not get new shoes as OFTEN as other children. That's because Blyn-Plans LAST LONGER than the ordinary kind.

So they are economical in two ways, you see—in cost and in serviceability.
